Desert tropics

Tropical prints shift from the lush green jungle to the sunbaked desert for S/S 23.

Why is it key? Think desert meets tropics, as an increasing number of brands look to dried foliage, timeworn palettes and archive prints to inspire a vintage update to palm prints. As a spinoff from our Desert Rider story, barren landscapes also inspire a drier, rustic take on popular #naturestexture and #newwave prints.

Understated patterns keep looks timeless and add longevity to purchases – a trait that will appeal to the new mindful consumer.

Design direction: marry sand dune stripes with animal skins, or merge camouflage colours with palm prints to create new enticing hybrids that tick a lot of boxes. Use #naturaldye for a sustainable and truly organic sun-drenched feel.
